Super Dry Expands Factory in The Netherlands

Written by Chelsey Drysdale Tuesday, 09 October 2012 10:31 -

DRONTEN, THE NETHERLANDS – Super Dry has expanded its factory here to meet greater demand for moisture-sensitive device cabinets in the Americas.

Electronics manufacturers have recognized the need to establish comprehensive material management programs, including storage and drying of components, the firm says.

Super Dry has developed desiccant cabinets designed to exceed challenges associated with IPC J-STD-033C and IPC-1601 for handling moisture sensitive components and printed circuit boards.