Foxconn Posts Record Nov. Revenues Over $12B

Written by Chelsey Drysdale Tuesday, 11 December 2012 11:46 -

TAIPEI – Foxconn reported record non-consolidated November revenues of $12.09 billion, up 27.6% sequentially.

The electronics firm attributes the growth to strong consumer electronics shipments and communication-related products.

Market watchers expect further growth in December, as demand for Apple's new iPhone and iPad will grow in China through February. China will start selling both this week.