

AeA Names Hansen President and CEO

Written by

Friday, 25 January 2008 08:53 - Last Updated Friday, 25 January 2008 08:53

WASHINGTON, DC – The AeA (formerly the American Electronics Association) named Christopher W. Hansen to succeed William T. Archey as president and chief executive.

Hansen was the group executive officer for the American Association for Retired Persons, at which he managed 53 offices and 675 staff located in Washington and throughout the country.

Archey will remain on board until February to aid the transition.