LAS VEGAS – IPC has issued a call for abstracts for next year's Apex. The event will take place in Las Vegas, March 31 - April 2.

Expert presentations are being sought on all relevant design, PCP fabrication and manufacturing topics. Submissions in the areas of new materials and environmental concerns are especially encouraged. The program committee will choose only abstracts that describe significant results from experiments, emphasize new techniques or discuss trends and test results.

The deadline for abstracts is July 18.
